BANGLADESH AUTOGAS INDUSTRY SEES EXPONENTIAL SPIKES

Bangladesh is considered as one of the fastest growing LPG market in the world and LPG experts of Bangladesh creates diversified sectors of consumption in this small country. In Bangladesh LPG is mostly (about 98%) import based and in 2020 Bangladesh imports about 1.2 million MT whereas 7 years back it was only 80,000 MT. LPG is cheaper than the any other traditional vehicle fuels like petrol and octane in Bangladesh and this is the biggest opportunity for exponential growth of Autogas in Bangladesh. Government of Bangladesh encourages people to use environment friendly fuels instead of these traditional ones and has been promoting Autogas for use in motor vehicles. As well as increasing per capita income makes peoples of the country interested to use private vehicle which opened up the growth line for autogas industry in different horizon.

In 2006 Bangladesh market saw Autogas for the first time in a very small scale and till 2015 there was only 12-15 Autogas stations around the country. But if we look into the current market trend, more than 200 Autogas stations running successfully in Bangladesh and 50 Autogas conversion centers are converting vehicle from traditional fuel to LPG. To keep pace with the increasing demand of Autogas, government of Bangladesh has already given approval to 9 (nine) LPG operators to set up 2050 Autogas stations in Bangladesh and set “LP Gas Operational Licensing Rules and Regulation, 2017”.

As well as the number of autogas conversion is increasing gradually and every day about 200-300 vehicles choose Autogas conversion instead of Compressed Natural Gas/CNG/NG which was the favorite fuel in vehicle in Bangladesh. Earlier for the vehicle's fuel conversion, consumers choose CNG as the price of CNG was very low in Bangladesh. It is to be noted that CNG gridline only covers 33% of the country and whereas 67% specially the northern and southern part of Bangladesh patrols and diesels. This huge gap makes autogas market more lucrative and the most vehicles of north part in Bangladesh converted their vehicle from traditional fuel to LPG. Along with that these days' peoples of Bangladesh pick LPG over CNG due to its safety, less tank's weight & less conversion cost. According to statistics around 30,000 vehicles are currently running with Autogas and the market volume about 72,000 MT/year in Bangladesh whereas it was only 6,000 MT/year in 2015. It is obvious that the market is increasing rapidly and the prospects of Autogas are very high in the coming years and expected to reach 250,000 MT by 2025.

Apart all, Government of Bangladesh encourage to use LPG instead of traditional fuels and thus some leading LPG companies in Bangladesh named Bashundhara LP Gas Limited, Omera LPG, BM Energy and Beximco LPG have decided to invest USD 150 million in this sector to make Autogas popular rapidly. Along with that state run fuel marketing & distribution companies those who are supplying traditional vehicle fuels (Petrol, Octane, Diesel) named Padma oil ltd., Meghna oil ltd., Jamuna oil ltd. have already signed agreement with most of the LPG operators to assist this initiative. These three state run companies holds more than 1900 fuel stations and working hand to hand with LPG operators to spread Autogas all over the country.

As this marketing is growing and operators and government both are working together to make steady market, still there are some challenges to overcome. Taking NOCs from various govt. department, developing safety rules are the biggest challenges of this industry. Besides safety distances, traffic rules (for delivery at day time) in the biggest cities of Bangladesh make this industry more critical. As well as cross filling, cylinder refilling and involvement of third parties are also making this market more unstable.

The demand for Autogas in Bangladesh market is increasing continuously since 2017. So, it has a clear upward graph and the market investor assumes it will expand 7/8 times from the recent amount because Autogas stations are expanding all over the country and expect that within next 3 (three) years 1,500 autogas stations will be in operation.

Talking about the price, recently Autogas selling price is USD 0.5/liter in all over the country which is about 50% cheaper than other fuels in Bangladesh like Petrol & Octane which is USD 1/Liter. LPG investors and experts of Bangladesh assume that prices of Autogas may fall with the market growth as because transportation cost for the road tanker will become cheaper than recent times with the progress of our infrastructure.

BANGLADESH AUTOGAS PROSPECTS

HONORABLE AUTOGAS OWNER'S ASSOCIATION
ASSALAMU ALAIKUM

We are pleased to see you all in this general meeting where we can share our views on how we can make a good Autogas business that can maximize our return on investment and longer lasting safe business.

LPG as an alternative fuel for vehicles is known as Autogas globally. The recent Autogas trend will give us a remarkable growth of the Autogas in Bangladesh if we read the attached brochure of Autogas written by WLPGA.

The advance technology of Autogas equipment and upgraded engines either from OEM or retrofit manufacturers will give us fuel economy, increase of power efficiency, low emissions of NOx, SOx, CO, CO2 that confirms cleaner and greener environment for the globe.

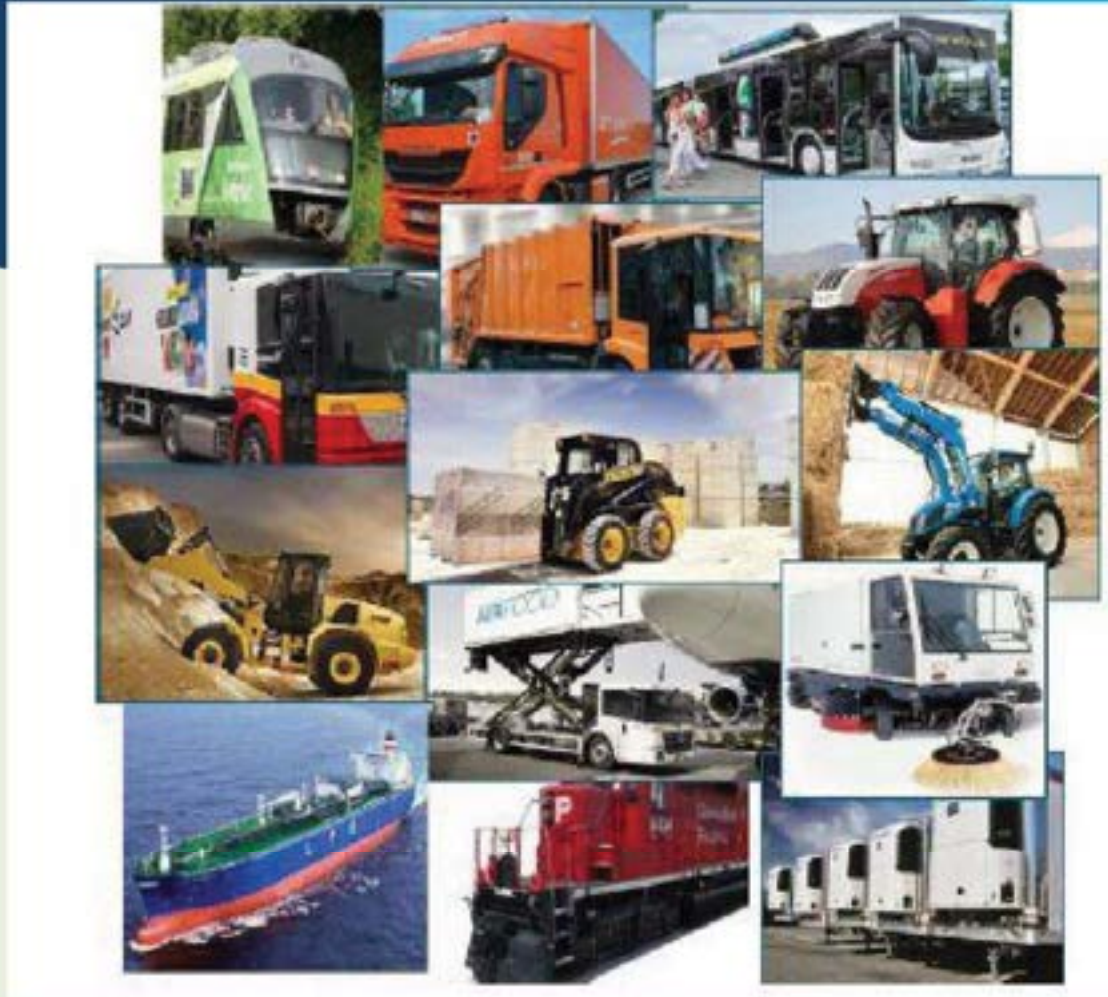

The investment vs return is not satisfactory for current business due to low consumption of vehicles in country and it needs immediate solutions taking consent from following stakeholders:

- Policy Makers / Regulatory bodies
- Investors in Autogas sector
- Importers of Transport – On Road / Off Road
- LPG Companies
- The organization of NGOs who works for cleaner & greener world

Now, we need to focus on the development of equipment that can suit for the smart use of Autogas for developed vehicles / equipment so that the sales will be increased and return will be satisfactory upon our investment as we can see the development of Autogas sectors in other countries like US, Europe, Asia.

Autogas has versatile use like heavy bus, trucks, trains, marine fuel, off road vehicle, on road vehicles, cleaning equipment, forklift, port facility equipment etc.

Some images were given here for future probable sectors of Autogas consumption:

LP Gas: Fueling Future Bangladesh

Engr. Mohammed Saidul Islam

When the first invention of LP Gas is made in the early 1900s, nobody ever thought it would become the most preferred alternative fuel within a century. It has done much more than that – even replacing the primary fuels like natural gas because of its innate characteristics.

What is LP Gas

Popularly known as LPG, it is Liquefied Petroleum Gas and a mixture of predominantly Propane ( $C_3H_8$ ), Butane ( $C_4H_{10}$ ) and few other similar hydrocarbons. Usually it is being odorized to give it a distinct smell to help finding out any leak. LP Gas can be obtained from refineries by processing crude oil and also from natural gas extraction plants.

The Bangladesh Chapter

In the late 70s Government owned company BPC initiated LP Gas use with the commissioning of the Chittagong refinery. With increasing demand for LPG, Government of Bangladesh allowed private companies to construct LPG facilities and to import LPG in late 1990s. The product remained in the restricted list of importation till 2002, when finally government decided to make this product free for importation and trading.

People in Bangladesh have always been dependent on indigenous sources of fuel. The life in Major cities has been blessed with the natural gas network – very cheap, efficient and convenient. However the poverty in the rural area forced them to hinge on fuels like firewood, cow-dung sticks etc. Some solvent families of course resorted in kerosene, and occasionally on LP Gas.

With the growth of population and economy, fuel started to play a significant role. People started to get solvent and looked for more convenience rather than price. The upstream result of discovering new natural gas wells were below expectation. Finally In 2010, the then caretaker government could take a bold decision like stopping the natural gas expansion line as well as new connections.

Countless Uses of LP Gas

No doubt everybody knows this as 'cylinder gas' for cooking in domestic purposes, but uses of LPG has become quite spread and enormous. LPG has higher heating value, about 50 MJ/kg to make it very efficient in household cooking. It is a perfect fuel as replacement of any other conventional fuel including natural gas, kerosene etc.

From the kitchen, the use stretches to room heating and water heating, lighting and refrigeration, industrial uses like in food industries, glass and ceramics, metal, agricultural, poultry, garments, aerosol and so on. The most popular type of commercial use that we can see around the country is in the Hotel &

Restaurants – most of them are now resorting to LP Gas for the cooking of their meals for customers, no kerosene odor anymore!

While government suspended natural gas expansion in the cities, the growth of apartments & condominiums did not stop. It was expected that LPG reticulation should soon become popular, but it didn't as expected – mainly because of their expectation from government for new NG connections, lack of proper space in the ground floor for set up LPG vaporizers/cylinders and finally deficiency of a proper guideline from government to use LPG in the apartments, industries and new uses.

Autogas

A short form of 'Automotive LP Gas'; Autogas is now the most popular form of LPG use all around the world. It is very good for engine, do not need any extra maintenance and do not require frequent refilling like CNG. It is free of lead, very low in Sulphur & other metals, aromatics and other contaminants. Not only it is good for engine and environment, it is also cost saving because it is less expensive than Octane.

Around half of all autogas-fueled passenger vehicles are in the top autogas markets : Turkey, South Korea, Poland, Italy, Australia, Japan and Mexico. Autogas is widely used as a "green" fuel, as it decreases exhaust emissions. In particular, it reduces CO<sub>2</sub> emissions by around 35% compared to petrol. One litre of petrol produces 2.3 kg of CO<sub>2</sub> when burnt, whereas the equivalent amount of autogas produces only 1.5 kg of CO<sub>2</sub> when burnt.

Few autogas stations have already been set-up in few places of the country namely – Khulna, Jessore, Benapole, Rangpur, Rajshahi. The energy experts has a view that if the subsidy is withdrawn from CNG and an international pricing of fuel is implemented, then Autogas has the potential to grow immensely in all cities of Bangladesh including the current CNG based areas.

Role of LP Gas in Bangladesh's Energy Mix:

An annual shortage of 200 bcf natural gas shows how desperately we need to diversify our energy requirement. The deficiency of NG will only increase and it will have an overall impact on electricity generation, fertilizer, transportation and domestic sector. If the reserve capacity does not increase according to the estimation of the Gas Sector Master Plan, then there would be huge difference between demand & supply in coming years. LNG will take a big role to play in reducing this gap.

The other fuels in the card like coal, peat is looking far away and therefore the quickest solution at least for domestic, industrial and transportation sector could be LP Gas.

LP Gas can not only provide an immediate solution, but also can immensely develop the overall grim 'subsidy' picture of government. Customers shall have to buy LP Gas according to import price of the LPG suppliers, who sources the gas based on monthly published Saudi Aramco Contract Price (CP). It will mean government has to spend lesser for its subsidized fuels (kerosene, NG, petrol, octane, diesel etc).

An Indonesian example to this context could be used as "Idol". The Government in Indonesia decided to use LPG for all domestic purposes and stop supply of subsidized kerosene. Within a decade government spending on fuel subsidy drastically reduced and the people became used to alternate fuel LP Gas. Many forward and backward linkage industries developed creating scores of job related to LPG. Bangladesh can ponder to take some lesson from this real-world affair.

Safety & Industry Standards:

Though the country passed quite a long time in this industry, yet the standards on operations & safety has not been developed to the expected level. Government should play a vital role on developing a proper Operational and Management Standards for the country. Good quality OHS software can also assist in developing the standards of Safety withing Bangladesh.

Revamping various government departments like Explosives and BERC could be another important step. Currently these departments run short of manpower, training and necessary equipment. It is also imperative to understand various international standards of manufacturing & compliance and thereafter develop a safety culture throughout the industry and users.

Automation:

Automation is the key for future in the LPG sector. This is a requirement for all LPG Operators, Government, Distributors and Autogas station owners. It can be achieved by carefully designed ERP software which can add tremendous value within the chain. Amar Bebsha Limited (www.amarbebsha.com) already offering International and local software for this sector.

Conclusion

If we have a brief look on LP Gas use globally we can see some interesting facts. As example, the top ten countries for LPG use are South Korea, Turkey, Poland, Japan, Australia, Russian Federation, Italy, Mexico, Thailand and the USA. Also very surprisingly, all of Hong Kong's taxis run on LP Gas!

With governments long term view on diversifying the energy requirement of the country, this particular industrial sector requires long term support with proper energy pricing policy, developing a level playing field, proper VAT, duty & tax structure and development of proper safety and operational standards through Automation via Software.

বসুন্ধরা এল. পি. গ্যাস

শ্রেষ্ঠত্ব অর্জন করা কঠিন। কিন্তু আমরা বিশ্বাস করি, সত্যিকার অর্থে বিজয়ী সেই, যে শ্রেষ্ঠত্বের অবস্থান ধরে রাখতে জানে। বসুন্ধরা এল. পি. গ্যাস আপনাদের আস্থা ও ভরসায় অর্জন করেছে বেস্ট ব্র্যান্ড অ্যাওয়ার্ড এবং পর পর দুইবার আন্তর্জাতিক শ্রেষ্ঠত্বের স্বীকৃতি 'সুপারব্র্যান্ড অ্যাওয়ার্ড'। আপনাদের এই ভরসা অক্ষুণ্ণ রাখতে আমরা প্রতিজ্ঞাবদ্ধ। ভরসা রাখুন, স্বাচ্ছন্দ্য থাকুন।
